Exceptional outdoor living is rooted in the beauty, function and stewardship of a home's landscape. Since 1991, Phil Rosborough, A.S.I.A., P.L.A., and his award-winning team at Rosborough Partners, have designed, built and maintained landscapes that add value, delight homeowners, and provide a sense of luxury. "True luxury is bringing a client's vision to life," Rosborough says. "Whether we're adding patio or terrace areas, fire or water features, or outdoor kitchens and living spaces, using high-quality building and plant materials with skill and care elevates any environment." Another key to the firm's success is their collaborative spirit. Rosborough adds: "With our focus on the client and their landscape aspirations, we lean into effective communication throughout the design process, implementation, and ongoing garden stewardship. The results are impactful solutions that work within each client's budget, aesthetic and lifestyle."

"We are a team of professionals that provides complete landscape stewardship in Chicagoland and beyond."

OUTDOOR ARTISTRY

- How do you create a cohesive indoor-outdoor flow? Consistent use of building materials and pane div defines the transition between indoor and outdoor spaces. Furniture selection, decor, and outdoor entertainment systems, mean that warm and inviting aesthetics can be spent immersed in nature.
- What are your top tips for keeping outdoor environments vibrant, enduring and healthy? Ensuring proper plant health care and horticultural practices are performed along with quality materials and passionate landscape professionals trained to identify issues before they become a problem, all help to keep every aspect of outdoor environments looking and being their best.
- Talk about your commitment to sustainability. Rosborough partners basic with sustainable organic plant health care services because we understand the importance of respecting the environment. Additionally, we recently invested in a "green trailer" that contains all electric machines that provide a quieter, more energy-efficient and sustainable option for our clients, and we plan to roll out more in the future.
