Protective Evergreen Netting

As the cold air descends, our team at Rosborough Partners is dedicated to protecting your landscape from the damage winter can bring. One of our key tasks is shielding your cherished evergreens from the hungry deer population. Deer are known to browse on plants during the winter months when their natural food sources are scarce. This can cause significant damage to your precious evergreens, leaving them vulnerable and unsightly.

To combat the threat, we offer this highly effective deer protection solution for your peace of mind. The lightweight and inconspicuous netting wraps around the base of your trees and shrubs, creating a physical barrier that deters deer from nibbling on your greenery. By taking this critical step, you can rest assured that your landscape will weather the winter months beautifully and emerge vibrant and healthy in the spring.
